DO YOU KNOW

- I. That there are in the United States about 200,000 children under 16 years of age employed as newsboys, boot-blacks, errand, delivery and messenger boys, vendors of chocolate, chewing-gum and shoestrings, market-stand helpers, etc.?
- II. That the number of newsboys 10 to 13 years increased 7 per cent between 1910 and 1920, although other types of harmful child labor decreased?
- III. That street work subjects children to definite moral hazards, and that there is a high delinquency rate among those engaging in these occupations?
- IV. That street work interferes with education and that the percentage of street workers retarded in school is larger than for an ordinary group of children?
- V. That street trading exposes the child to nervous fatigue and other physical dangers attendant upon long hours, exposure to all kinds of weather, irregular meals, rush and excitement, the carrying of heavy loads?

THE street is home for you. You eat and sleep

With bigger boys and hark to what they say,
And think them mighty men and, shamefaced, keep

Your baby fears and thoughts all hid away.
You're starved for food and sleep and love,
though you

Would scoff at this and call it all untrue.

And oh, you're just a little lad, a little lad,
a little lad,

Who ought to think the world's a place for having fun and being glad,

Who ought to be good friends with trees and chummy with the sky and breeze,

And who's to blame, I wonder, if you grow up queer and gross and bad?
